CLAY COUNTY SUPERVISOR OF ELECTIONS PARTNERS WITH THE CLAY COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR'S OFFICE TO ENSURE EFFECTIVE VOTER REGISTRATION

The Clay County Supervisor of Elections office held three training classes on February 12, 2014 for approximately 50 staff members of the Clay County Tax Collector's Office to ensure a better and effective voter registration process.

"With more and more voter registrations being performed as a part of the driver's license process, it is imperative that both offices are armed with the most up-to-date laws and procedures," said Chris Chambless, Clay County Supervisor of Elections.

Topics of the training included the statewide voter registration system, voter eligibility, pre-registration, closed primary elections, the importance of accurate information and much more. The training was held as an open discussion, with many questions from staff members of both offices.

"I have received excellent feedback from those who attended the training. Clay County enjoys great collaboration among its constitutional officers, and this training was no different," said Larry Williams, Assistant Tax Collector for the Clay County Tax Collector's Office.

Since the enactment of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993, also known as the Motor Voter Act, the majority of new voter registration applications are received through the Tax Collector's Office. Completed voter registration applications are then sent electronically to the Supervisor of Elections office for verification through the Florida Voter Registration System.
